

On 4-9-2003 I signed up for DSL on AOL. On 4-10-2003 I called and decided to cancel it. I called AOL and Paul Walker in customer service proceeded to inform me that if I canceled my DSL today there was a 30 day FCC waiting period before I could sign up with another DSL company. On 4-10-2003 I signed up for DSL with Qwest and they proceed to let me know there is no such ruling and I was not told the truth from AOL. AOL lied to me to try and keep my business. I sold my stock today.
